SUMMARY

As a 21-year-old university student pursuing a degree in Computer Science Engineering, I am deeply engaged in advancing my skills in software engineering and development. My journey involves mastering modern programming languages and web development frameworks, particularly focusing on the MERN (MongoDB, Express.js, React.js, Node.js) stack. With experience in both frontend (ReactJS) and backend (NodeJS) development, I am committed to improving my abilities further. Currently, I am expanding my expertise by diving into Three.js for 3D visualization and React Native for mobile application development. My goal is to continually enhance my proficiency and contribute meaningfully to the field of software engineering.
